

2004
Napa Valley
Syrah
Stagecoach Vineyard

---

Winemaker:	Kerry G. Damskey
Harvest:	September 15, 2004
Viticultural Source:	Napa Valley Stagecoach Vineyard
Topography:	1700' elevation Steep Southwest facing slopes
Blend:	96% Palmeri Block Stagecoach Syrah 4% Palmeri Block Stagecoach Cabernet Sauvignon
Bottled:	April 2006
Total Case Production:	274

---

Tasting Notes:

Palmeri's 2004 Napa Valley Wild Boar labeled Syrah from Stagecoach Vineyard showcases the best this single vineyard designation has to offer, brilliant complexity, dark berry fruit, licorice, coffee and cigar box, with wafts of slightly savory aromas. Delicious.

The vineyards, planted on steep rocky slopes overlooking the panorama of Napa Valley have reached full maturity, showing the true pedigree of the clones and earth that make up the Terroirs of Stagecoach. Jan Krupp, friend and viticulturalist, prizes the steep southern exposure of Palmeri's block, carefully leafing and pruning the vines to offer the greatest intensity.

Palmeri owner and winemaker Kerry Damskey describes the wine as "purple black with a lovely youthful intensity, drawing you in with luscious New World boldness. This fruit forward mountain Syrah offers the invitingly seductive aromas found in Napa's world class high elevation Syrah vineyards."

The 2004 Palmeri offers the finest of both worlds; the wine is approachable- providing a distinct "yummy factor" for dining and collectability for the seasoned enophile. The official release date is February 18, 2007, the beginning of the Lunar New Year of the Boar.